

Alkido Pharma, Inc. Hires Carlos Aldavero to Lead Financial Services Subsidiary

Morgan Stanley Executive Joins Dominari Financial, Inc. on July 22, 2022

Anthony Hayes, CEO of Alkido Pharma Inc. announced the hiring of Carlos Aldavero as President of Dominari Financial, the recently formed financial services subsidiary of Alkido. Mr. Aldavero joins Dominari from Morgan Stanley where he was Associate Complex Manager overseeing one of the largest and most profitable business units at the venerable Wall St. firm.

In this newly created role, Mr. Aldavero will be responsible for identifying strategic assets in the fintech and financial services sector for acquisition and investment while creating an organizational structure that leverages the inherent synergies of an accretive business model. He will report to Mr. Hayes.

"We are thrilled to have someone with Carlos' extensive financial services experience and deep skill set take this key role in our organization," said Hayes. "We are confident that he will provide the forward-thinking leadership that will help build our recently formed financial services division into a significant contributor to Alkido's bottom line and help us increase the overall value of our company. Carlos will also work closely with me to identify additional key hires and build a world-class management team for the financial services division."

Mr. Aldavero is a widely respected and sought-after executive who has held management positions at some of the leading financial institutions in a long-distinguished career including, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc., Copernicus Institutional Advisors LLC, and Deutsche Bank, among others. "I want to thank Anthony and the board of directors of Alkido for this tremendous opportunity to be part of an organization that embraces innovation and for the chance to build a dynamic financial services organization that will be at forefront of emerging trends in the industry," said Aldavero. His first day is expected to be July 22, 2022.

Dominari Financial, Inc. was formed by Alkido to make strategic investments and acquisitions of revenue generating assets in wealth management, investment banking, alternative investments, and asset management. Dominari is key to Alkido's long-range goal of diversifying beyond biotechnology in order to reduce volatility and mitigate risk while increasing revenue and return-on-investment for shareholders. Dominari is based in New York.

Dominari Financial, Inc. Mission Statement:

Dominari is a dynamic, forward-thinking financial services holding company that creates wealth for all stakeholders by capitalizing on emerging trends in the financial services sector and identifying early-stage future opportunities that will generate a high rate of return for investors.
