

#ESCCongress 2020 Moves 100% Online

ESC Congress – the world’s largest cardiovascular event – moves 100% online for the first time in its 70-year history, to create ESC Congress 2020 – Challenging Times, Infinite Possibilities. Mark your calendars now and join the Congress online from Saturday, 29 August to Tuesday, 1 September.

The decision by the European Society of Cardiology (ESC) follows an announcement from the Dutch government banning public gatherings until 1 September to prevent the spread of coronavirus. As such, ESC Congress 2020 cannot take place in Amsterdam as planned.

This is an exciting opportunity and as always, online sessions will continue to disseminate the best ground-breaking cardiovascular science in a totally new, digital experience.

Never before will such a vast, global, cardiology community be connected at the same time. ESC Congress remains a celebration of discovery; a celebration of science.

This cutting-edge, online event will be extraordinary. The ESC is creating a digital experience to disseminate the most exciting cardiovascular science in the most engaging formats possible – and featuring key opinion leaders from around the world.

A taste of what’s to come:

- Dedicated COVID-19 track showcasing first-hand experience of top experts across the globe.
- Late-Breaking Trial Sessions revealing the most anticipated clinical results.
- Novel research presented in abstracts covering all areas of cardiovascular science.
- Key opinion leaders explaining how new research impacts practice.
- New ESC Clinical Practice Guidelines introduced and discussed by those who wrote them.

Stay tuned for more details.

Source: ESC

Image Credit: ESC

Published on : Thu, 7 May 2020